The mission of Chesterfield CASA is to promote safe, permanent homes for abused and neglected children by providing trained volunteers to advocate for them throughout their involvement in the juvenile court process.

Program History

Chesterfield CASA was initiated in July of 1996 as a collaborative community initiative. The organizing committee consisted of the juvenile court judges, representatives from the local Community Service Board, the Department of Social Services, the Chesterfield County Police Department, a school board member, a private attorney, a private therapist, a local bank officer, and a group of concerned citizens.

Their concern focused on the rising number of cases involving child abuse and neglect brought to the attention of the courts and social services in our community. They felt that a CASA program would be an appropriate response to increasing numbers of abuse and neglect cases, overburdened social service caseloads, and an ever-increasing need for representation in child abuse cases.

The primary goal of the program is to use trained volunteer advocates to work towards finding safe, permanent homes and treatment services for victims of child abuse. To that end, Chesterfield CASA, Inc. was formed as a 501 (c) (3) nonprofit organization. Several of the founding committee members continue to be involved with the CASA program.
